

How to Quickly and Effectively Manage
Your Daily Social Bookmarking

Hello ~

I'm Jackie Lee. I'm a mom, wife, gardener, internet marketer and so much more.

In 2006 I quit my J-O-B to stay home and take care of my daughter. It was then I started working from home full time. I have continued to work from home and create a decent living online since that time.

It is my passion and my pleasure to help others ~ especially other moms ~ learn how to start making money online so they can stay home with their kids if that's what they desire to do.

It seems like such an impossibility to so many, but really if you figure out how much you actually bring home after daycare, gas and lunches it probably does not come to a very insurmountable amount.

It's not hard to start making a few hundred dollars a month and start building from there.

Anyway ~ as you can see when I get passionate I get talkative. If you are a mom and you want to learn how to work at home using the internet please contact me through my blog, www.InternetMarketingforMommies.com and I would be happy to work with you and show you how it can be done.

Even if you aren't a mommy feel free to stop by, I give away tons of free and low cost tools for anyone to start making money online.

Ok Ok ~ Enough about me, let's get on with it!

I'm assuming because you are here you know the importance of using social bookmarking to increase backlinks to your site as well as drive more traffic.

Understanding it works and knowing how to work it are two totally different things. There are some tools out there like OnlyWire (which I personally find does not always bookmark to the sites it claims to) and Social Marker (which works quite well).

What if you want more bookmarks, more backlinks? What if 28 just isn't enough? How do you put in place a system to help you easily and quickly bookmark up to 50 more sites?

If these are the questions you are asking you are in the right place.

In this report I will show you a system to easily and quickly create up to 50 bookmarks (aside from the Social Marker sites) every day or spaced out through the week.

Are you excited? Great, you should be.

In his ground breaking report Search Engine Myths Exposed Jonathon Leger talked about backlinks and how they are the KEY to getting great search engine positioning.

He also talked about how backlinks also do NOT have to be themed links (or related to your topic). So each and every social bookmark you make is another backlink to your site.

Among other factors the more links you have the better your search engine rankings. From Jonathon's research it appears links are the "tie breaker" of search engine rankings. If all other things were the same between two sites, the one with more backlinks would win placement.

Social bookmarking is great for backlinks, and you can count on some traffic to a rush of traffic from your bookmarks as well.

All in all social bookmarking is a valuable marketing tool.

It is however, time consuming and can be difficult to keep track of. If you don't have a clear plan for your bookmarking it is easy to get confused and miss sites or double bookmark ~ which you don't want to do as you might be seen as a spammer.

I am going to show you a system to easily get your social bookmarking in order and be able to easily bookmark your sites and posts and keep track of what you are doing as you go.

Ready? All right ~ here we go.

Please understand the set up for this system is going to be time consuming. You can either break it up over the course of a week, or just bite the bullet and set aside a day to get yourself set up. Once you are set up it will not be so time consuming and you will have an easy and logical system in place.

I am going to give you a list of 50 social bookmarking sites. Each site will open in a new window. You will have to go to each site and set up an account. For most of them this will also include checking your email and validating your account.

You can either set up a separate email account for the setup so all the validation links will be in one place, or you create a rule to have all your validation emails go into a specific folder. Or you can do what I did and just weed through all your mail until you find them all. ;)

What I do suggest is after the link has taking you to the validation page go directly back to your email account and delete the validation message so you can keep track of which accounts you have already validated.

www.InternetMarketingforMommies.com

Now before we get started with the list I have to mention this system will only work if you are using the Firefox browser and if you aren't ~ why not? It's so much better than IE. Go ahead and download FireFox now. You'll thank me.

Now with that out of the way ~ you are going to go to the "bookmarks" button on your toolbar. When you click on "Bookmarks" a drop down menu will appear. Go down to "organize bookmarks". You will then click on the "new folder" option.

Now you are going to make a new folder. Name it "Monday" or "1" whatever is going help you differentiate it from the other folders you are about to make.

Go ahead and do that another 4 times. So now you should have folders Monday through Friday or 1 through 5.

With me so far? Great!

Now you are going to go through each of the links and sign up for your account with each of the bookmarking sites. I have separated them into 5 different lists of 10. For each site go ahead and validate your email and then sign in, make sure you click the "remember me" button below the sign in and click yes when FireFox asks if you want it to remember the site. Once you have signed in to the site find the "submit" button, click on that and once you are where you need to be to fill in your url and information for your site bookmark it.

The first 10 sites will go into your Monday folder.

The second 10 will go in your Tuesday folder

And so on and so on.

www.InternetMarketingforMommies.com

As long as you are signed in, go ahead and fill in the basic url for your website or blog. This will give you links to your homepage. In the future you will be bookmarking your new content or blog posts. This will help get traffic to all the areas of your site as well as build backlinks and page rank to all your pages.

Like I said, this doesn't all have to be done in one day. You can do ten sites a day, and spread it out over the week. This might actually be easier and less confusing, so do what feels good for you. This is supposed to make your life easier ~ not more stressful. ☺

Now you have gotten your folders filled with the 10 social bookmarking sites and you are ready to go back and do some bookmarking.

This is where it gets fun!

Go back to your “bookmark” tab in the toolbar. When you hold the cursor over the folder you want to open you will see it opens a little window to the right which lists all the sites you have in that folder. At the bottom of that list you will see “open in all tabs”. Click this.

You will presto magically see all the sites in that folder open up in its own tab.

Now if you bookmarked them while you were logged in you should be able to click from one tab to the next simply filling in the information for the post you are bookmarking and then click submit. After you finish with one, just close the tab and go on to the next.

You can quickly and easily move through the 10 bookmarking sites closing them as you go to decrease confusion and have a great sense of accomplishment.

Once you close the last tab you can either start on your Tuesday folder or you can just call it a day and bookmark the next 10 sites the next day, or you can always come back and bookmark another folder’s worth of sites when you have another free few minutes.

There you have it, a simple, quick and efficient system to manage your daily social bookmarking.

I hope this has helped you get a handle on your bookmarking, and will help you to bookmark more regularly.
